This is the second day of the new reduced ambulance schedule, and I think we've been at status zero two times today. We can't make a judgment based on one day, but this was a concern, and we will continue to keep an eye on it and do the best we can. We have identified several areas that have opportunities to make our service better and are making plans on making some changes more permanent (i.e., improved relationships with other departments as we are cooperating on different projects, etc.). Below are the graphs I'm looking at to evaluate call volume and patient severity.

We appreciate everyone's efforts to reduce overtime and costs. Keep up the good work and carry on.
