A couple of clarifications from today and added info:

- PPE required to enter LTC is eye protection and N95 mask (not a surgical mask and not a Scott mask). Elderly need more protection from us than a surgical mask. Also, our Scott masks do not filter your exhaled air, so there is no protection for other people from us with those respirators.
- Personal eyeglasses (even if they are safety glasses rated) are not considered eye protection. Eye protection must protect from all sides from potential droplets. Full face shields have been ordered or you can wear the masks with face shields already on the ambulance or you can order something from Galls.
